

What's here

Thanks for visiting my website. This is my place for sharing ideas, writing, information, links, insights, and so on. There are several "channels" here, which you can see in the tabs across the top of the page:

- The Foresight Channel is my blog on foresight, begun in 2008. It's a separate site, www.foresightculture.com
- Commentary is anything I want to share that offers my take on a topic of interest, at least to me.
- On Writing is the place for my work as a writer, especially focused on creative writing and fiction. Current efforts include short fiction, flahs, and a novel-in-process.
- Explorations is my place for results of research, family history, and other discoveries. Current work includes a biography of my grandmother, and an account of a journey to the Klondike Gold Rush, based on a Klondiker's (my great grandfather) diary.

Thanks for stopping by! Please share any thoughts you have on the pages described above, using the comments feature, or drop me a note here.